JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. This action for patent infringement arises under the patent laws of the United States, 35 U.S.C. §§ 271 et seq.

11. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a).

12. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Yealink USA because Yealink USA regularly conducts infringing activities in this district through, inter alia, its “Customer Experience Center” located in this district. See <https://www.yealink.com/en/contact-us>.

Customer Experience Center

- 📍 United States
Suite 160, 5445 Legacy Drive, Plano, TX 75024
- 📍 United Kingdom
Level 7, One Canada Square, Canary Wharf,
London E14 5AB

13. Venue as to Yealink USA is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1400(b), because Yealink USA is subject to personal jurisdiction in this District both through its acts of infringement in this District and because Yealink has its principal place of business in this District. See <https://www.yealink.com/en/contact-us>.

14. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Yealink China because, directly or through intermediaries, it has committed acts in this District that give rise to this action, or otherwise has established minimum contacts with this District such that the exercise of personal jurisdiction over Yealink China would not offend traditional notions of fair play and justice. For example, Yealink China has placed and is continuing to place the accused Infringing Products into the stream of commerce via established distribution channels, with the knowledge and understanding that such products are being and will continue to be used, offered for sale, sold and imported in the United States including this District. See <https://www.yealink.com/en/contact-us>.

15. Furthermore, upon information and belief, Yealink USA acts as the alter ego of Yealink China. For example, the CEO of Yealink USA, Huirong Zhang, is the secretary of Yealink China and has the same business address for both companies. Additionally, the user guides for the Infringing Products also direct consumers to both Yealink USA and Yealink China for contact information. See e.g.,:

17. Venue is proper in this District as to Yealink China pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(c)(3) because Yealink China is not a resident of the United States and, in the alternative, under 28 U.S.C. § 1400(b) as it (i) has committed acts of infringement in this District and (ii) purports to have a “regular and established place of business” in Plano, Texas.

18. In the alternative, there is personal jurisdiction over Yealink China pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P 4(k)(2) because Yealink China is not subject to jurisdiction in any state’s courts of general jurisdiction, and exercising jurisdiction is consistent with the United States Constitution and laws.

B. Yealink's Infringing Products

33. Defendants are engaged in the wireless presentation tool market, including the market for wireless presentation tools in the United States.

34. Rather than develop their own technology, upon information and belief, Yealink has incorporated Barco's patented technology protected by the Asserted Patents into Defendants' wireless presentation tools. Defendants thus unfairly compete with Barco in the marketplace by at least offering for sale and selling these Infringing Products throughout the United States.

35. Yealink makes, uses, offers to sell, sells and/or induces others to use at least one claim of each Asserted Patent.

C. Yealink Refused to Cease Infringement of Barco's Patents

36. In May 2023, Barco contacted Yealink to object to their unlawful patent infringement.

37. Barco identified certain of the Asserted Patents, including the '002 Patent, the '832 Patent, and the '951 Patent by number and notified Yealink that at least its A20-020-TEAMS Video Bar and WPP30 Presentation Pod infringed at least these three patents.

38. On August 24, 2023, Barco again contacted Yealink regarding its ongoing infringement of Barco's patents. Barco reiterated that Yealink's products infringed the '002 Patent, the '832 Patent, and the '951 Patent, and further stated that the A20-020-TEAMS Video Bar and WPP30 Presentation Pod infringed at least the '103 Patent and the '237 Patent.

39. Upon information and belief, despite full knowledge of the Asserted Patents and its infringement, Yealink has refused to cease its infringement.

The WPP30 then couples to the computer device. The WPP30 has a wireless transceiver. The WPP30 sets up, using a pre-installed generic driver of the operating system, a means for communication between the peripheral device and the processing device. The system then couples the processing device to the wireless communications network via the peripheral device; running a client application stored on the peripheral device to obtain screen scraped data. The system further routes the screen scraped data between the processing device and the wireless communications network via the means for communication for display on the one or more first displays of the base node, wherein the generic communication protocol is used for transferring the screen scraped data for display between the processing device and the peripheral device. The system also obtains electronic access to the one or more first displays for display of the screen scraped data. Displays connected to the A20-020-TEAMS Video Bar display the screen scraped data on the one or more first displays in accordance with a set of rules, one of the rules being a forcing rule that display on the one or more first displays of new screen scraped data is obtained by the action of only one participant involved in the meeting, without requiring the agreement of another participant, the new screen scraped data of any participant for display overrides or replaces any data displayed on the one or more first displays from the same or another participant of the meeting.

73. Defendants are, and have been, aware of their inducement of their respective customers to use, sell, and offer to sell the Infringing Products. Defendants have been aware of the '676 Patent and have been aware that their customers' use of, sale of, and offer to sell the Infringing Products constitutes an act of infringement.

74. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' infringement of the '676 Patent, Barco has been and continues to be damaged.

76. Defendants have committed these acts of infringement without license or authorization.

77. Defendants have committed these acts of infringement with knowledge of the '676 Patent and thus have acted recklessly and willfully with regard to their infringement of Barco's rights in the '676 Patent.

78. In accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 287, Yealink has had actual notice and knowledge of its alleged infringement of the '676 Patent no later than the filing of this complaint and/or the date this complaint was served upon Defendants. On information and belief, Defendants continue without license to use, import into, sell, and/or induce others to use in the United States its A20-020-TEAMS Video Bar and WPP30 Presentation Pod.

79. As a result of Defendants' willful infringement of the '676 Patent, Plaintiffs have suffered monetary damages and are entitled to a monetary judgment in an amount adequate to
